Company Secretaries

IFSC businesses are organized in the nation itself but work outside the company's original jurisdiction. The central government recognizes IFSC companies under section 18(1) of the SEZ Act, 2005. It is an unlisted business, operating in Special Economic Zones. It essentially serves citizens outside the country's domestic economic jurisdiction to extend the world-class infrastructure to both residents and non-residents. It serves as a facilitation hub to improve export services.

The Gujarat International Finance Tec-City (also called GIFT City), inaugurated in April 2015 and it is India's first IFSC.

In current trend, corporates are expanding their business or services by incorporating an IFSC company in a GIFT city at Gujarat.

IFSC serves as an Indian-ruled overseas territory. It helps companies incorporated outside India to raise money in foreign currencies by listing their shares on IFSC stock exchange where an individual or institutional investors from abroad, including NRIs, are permitted to trade. Mutual and alternative investment funds founded in an IFSC may also invest in securities listed here. GIFT City has two areas: domestic and regional. All rupee-denominated transactions can be made from domestic GIFT.

In this article we will see process of setting up of unit as IFSC company and its regulatory framework.

Conclusion:

In order to carry offshore financial transactions to the Indian Territory, IFSC companies play a key role. The main objective was to bring back the financial services and transactions carried out by the Indian corporations in offshore financial centers. At the moment, IFSC is entitled to create institutions within the financial sector, such as banks, insurance companies, stock exchanges, mutual funds, alternative capital funds, and other registered SEBI institutions. With the aid of these tax incentives, SEBI, IRDA, benefits, and exemptions provided by various regulations, IFSC is given the necessary impetus to succeed in India. RBI opened up opportunities for IFSC units for all Indian and foreign banks operating in India. IFSC provides easier access for Indian companies to global financial markets and also opens the door to financial sector jobs.
